NO MARKS FOUND SURPRISE IN STORE

Mysterious Death of a Farmer in Graves County Last Night.

Got Up to Look After His Horses and Found at Daylight with His Eyes Eaten Out.

NO INQUEST HELD YET WILL BE A PLEASANT SURPRISE

W. M. Harris, a prominent farmer residing about five miles out of Mayfield, heard a noise in his barn last night at midnight and thinking some one was after his horses arose and went out to investigate.

His wife was awakened at his rising but soon after went to sleep again. When she awoke this morning he had not returned to bed and becoming alarmed she went in search for him. His body was found lying in the middle of the road directly in front of his house and the hogs had eaten out his eyes. No other marks about his body could be seen as the people would not make an examination before the coroner was summoned and at press time he had not made a report.

No noise was heard about the place to indicate a struggle, if he had been foully dealt with, and it is the belief that he died of heart trouble. He leaves a wife and five children and was about 50 years of age.

COW VOTE

Ballots are Falling to Seal the Fate of the Town Cow

The Vote Polled Will Probably Not Be Very Large.

The vote for and against allowing cows to run at large inside the city limits of Paducah is being taken today. The polls opened at 7 a. m. and voting was slow.

There was little, if any, enthusiasm manifested anywhere, but if the people turn out as they should, it is believed that the cow will be voted out by an overwhelming majority.

The polls close at 5 p. m., and if you have not voted and it is not too late, no time should be lost. The vote will be counted at once, and the result will probably be known early this evening.

This afternoon at press time the vote was still small and it seems that those against the cow are in the lead. At the North Side of the court house there had been 89 votes cast, 50 of which were for the ordinance and against the cow running at large, leaving 39 votes for the cow.

On the North side, where 70 votes were cast, only one had voted for the cow, the remaining 69 being for the ordinance.

Mechanicsburg will naturally go against the ordinance, but the vote there is small.

At Henninger's there were 63 votes, yes, and 20 against the ordinance.

At Gallman's there were 92 in favor of the ordinance and 6 against it.

BLACK BEAST BAKED

Tom Clark Expiates a Diabolical Crime at the Stake--Killed and Outraged Mrs. Cary Whitfield Near Corinth Miss.

Corinth, Miss., Sept. 29—Tom Clark, alias Gibson, colored, who lived near here, was burned at the stake yesterday afternoon for the heinous murder of Mrs. Cary Whitefield, a beautiful and highly respected lady of near Corinth. He was caught at home Saturday, several days after the crime, and confessed. He said to officers: "Yes, sir, I killed Mrs. Whitfield. I killed her to keep her from telling on me. I went there for the purpose of robbing the house. I thought everybody was away from home. I didn't expect to see her. When I saw her and she saw me I asked her for a saw. She was partly dressed. She unlocked the front door and soon returned with a pistol and told me to get the saw and leave the place. She started away and I told her I would not hurt her, that what I wanted was money, and I wanted her to tell me where it was."

"She said, 'take the saw and leave.' I advanced toward her offering her the saw which was in my hand. She reached for it and I grabbed her. She then began to call for Mary, who was a servant. We had got near the well in the front yard by this time. I grabbed her around the neck and dragged her into the house. I choked her and when I let her go she fell on the floor. I asked her if she was going to tell me where the money was. She was unconscious by this time. Then I assaulted her."

"She had dropped the pistol as soon as the struggle began. I saw a razor in the drawer of the dresser and cut her throat with it. She was nearly dead when I cut her. I went through the drawers of the dresser and searched every place where I thought money was likely to be found. I found about 45 cents. I took the pistol that she had dropped, and left the place. I first went through the woods to the M. & O. railroad, then doubled back and came through the woods to the road and went home."

The people almost went mad when the details of the atrocious crime became known, and decided to burn the prisoner.

The hour set for the execution was 4 o'clock. J. H. Henning, brother of the murdered young woman, had been selected to set the match to the scaffold. Clark was assisted to the scaffold. Chains were passed around his neck, waist and lower limbs, the same being securely locked. The scaffold was constructed of the iron of a railroad switch, being the inside frame of a switch placed in an upright position. To the iron cross bars the negro was chained so that there was no chance of the scaffold falling to the ground from the fire. The front of the scaffold was supported by a crostie driven in the ground and underneat the floor was piled the wood.

It was 2:25 p. m. when Clark mounted the scaffold. McCann told the crowd that Clark had something to say. When Cary Whitfield saw him he shrieked for vengeance, pulled his hair and wept. Friends consoled him.

The murderer said:

"I would rather all of you stand out and shoot me dead or hang me than to burn me."

The mob cried: "Burn him."

John Timberlake addressed the crowd, reading Clark's last letters. Being the master of ceremonies he gave positive instructions that a shot was not to be fired and in order to make sure he took all the shells out of his followers' guns.

The time was nearly up. Clark stood with a meek expression on his face. His head was held on one side. His hands were clasped in front of him. He looked at the setting sun apparently. Now and then he muttered something.

As the fire kindled and the flames leaped higher the crowd yelled with keener delight. Charses were heaped on the poor wretch. The enthusiasm became contagious and spread throughout the vast throng. Only the more passive citizens who stood off failed to cheer. Men danced around the pyre like savages of old going through some tribal ceremonial. The fire began to eat its way to the wretch's flesh. Then, with a shriek that could be heard a long way off, he struck at the flames, as if he would catch hold of them with his hands and keep them off. Again and again he shrieked, and each time the agonized cry of pain was answered with shouts of joy or loud imprecations from the mob. The scene following then is simply indescribable. Clark paid the awful price of his crime.

It was 8:35 o'clock when the fire was lighted, and at seventeen minutes of 4 o'clock he had ceased to move, yet the flames were leaping about his charred body, devoring what was left, though lifeless.

To the last Clark moved his lips in prayer. He was heard to call on the Savior and his mother. His writhing and struggling against the awful torture was pitiable.

It merely illustrates the fact that Mississippi vengeance is more terrible than Mississippi justice.

The following is a list of the crimes which Clark confessed he had committed prior to the murder of Mrs. Whitfield:

Robbed the residence of Dr. Ifemphill at French Camp, Miss., and got

IMPORTANT TAX CASE

Opinion of Judge Lightfoot, if Sustained, Means Much.

Steamboats Owned By Non-Residents May Register Here Without Being Subject to Taxation.

A QUESTION OF LONG STANDING

The decision of Onondy Judge Lightfoot Saturday in the back tax case of Auditor's Agent Frank Lucas against the Ayer-Lord Tie company for state taxes claimed to be due on boats registered here is of great importance, and had it gone the other way would doubtless have been the most serious blow struck at the river interests of Paducah for many years.

Reports that it is already out and dried are false. The name of every candidate presented will receive due consideration, and those who desire to offer names are requested to have no hesitancy in coming on and doing so.

It is expected that a large and enthusiastic crowd will turn out.

There is every indication of success in November, and the best material will be put out.

The platform to be adopted will doubtless, as usual, advocate what is best for Paducah's progress, and the gentlemen nominated on it will be fully capable of, and anxious to, carry it out.

A List of Good Men for City Officers Will Be Nominated by Republicans.

PROSPECTS FOR NOV. BRIGHT

The Republican city mass convention, to select candidates for city offices to be filled in November, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the city hall, and all Republicans are urged to attend.

Reports that it is already out and dried are false. The name of every candidate presented will receive due consideration, and those who desire to offer names are requested to have no hesitancy in coming on and doing so.

It is expected that a large and enthusiastic crowd will turn out.

ALLEGED CRIMINALS CAUGHT

Louis Buford Must Answer for Highway Robbery.

Negro Who Used Knucks Made His Escape—Paperhanger in Trouble.

Louis Buford, colored, was arrested Saturday night on a charge of highway robbery. He is the negro alleged to have robbed Edson Bogard, colored, in the Illinois Central yards last Monday night of $18.70.

Bogard, who is a section hand, was on his way home when he was accosted from behind, and looking back, was struck in the head and his money taken away while he was helpless. He says Buford did the work, and Buford remained at large until Saturday night. His case was this morning continued in police court.

George Booz, colored, was badly hurt, it is alleged, by a pair of brass knucks manipulated by Robert Caldwell yesterday morning. Caldwell escaped and has not been caught. Booz says they were playing a game of cards "for fun" when he started to leave and Caldwell promptly got up and attacked him with knucks. Drs. Ifey and Robertson dressed his injuries.

George Leroy, a young paperhanger, was arrested Saturday night on a charge of grand larceny. He was at work at Mr. Peter Burnett's residence on Broadway Saturday, and after he left a diamond ring, ruby ring and $1 in money were missed, and have not yet been found. The young man comes of an excellent family, but it is alleged was convicted in the federal court here a few years ago for counterfeiting and given a sentence in the federal prison. He is out under guard.

FOR PETTY LARCENY.

UPHEAVAL OF WATER

Metropolis Men Witness a Remarkable Sight.

The River Rose for 25 Feet in one Place and Nearly Swamped Them.

Metropolis, Ill., Sept. 29—Edgar Edwards and Sam Randolph, of East Metropolis, had an experience Thursday night at midnight.

Thursday evening about 6 o'clock they left Silver Cliff upon the Omberland river, where they had been looking after timber. They were in a skiff and were coming to Metropolis. About midnight they reached Fort Massac and being very tired and worn out were resting on their oars and floating along quietly. The sky was clear and the river was perfectly calm.

When they were almost directly in front of the Bending works, just below the Fort Massac point there was a sudden muffled sound like an explosion and within 60 feet of their skiff a large volume of water was thrown violently upward as though a marine mine had been fired just below. The water went up something like 25 feet and fell back, dousing them and almost swamping the skiff.

There is all sorts of speculation as to the cause of the water's upheaval. Some say a meteor may have struck in the water but this would probably have been seen by the men in the skiff. Others are of the opinion that the upheaval was caused by natural gas in the earth below the river bed, while many believe that some fishermen fired a charge of dynamite below the surface of the water in order to kill fish.

REFUSED THE OFFER.

$5,000 A DAY RENT OFFERED FOR TENNESSEE FURNACE.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 29—It is really reported here that the Lafollette Iron, Coal and Railroad company has been offered $5,000 per day rent for the use of its big iron furnace which was blown in on Thursday of this week. About 400 men are employed in connection with it.

AN OLD SORE

Will snur the sweetest disposition and transform the most even tempered, lovable nature into a cross-grained and irritable individual.

If impatience or fault-finding are ever excusable it is when the body is tortured by an eating and painful sore. It is truly discouraging to find after months of diligent and faithful use of external remedies that the place remains as defiant, angry and offensive as ever. Every chronic sore, no matter on what part of the body it comes, is an evidence of some previous constitutional or organic trouble, and that the dregs of these diseases remain in the system; or, it may be that some long hidden poison—perhaps Cancer—has come to the surface and begun its destructive work.

The blood must be purified before the sore will fill up with healthy flesh and the skin regains its natural color. It is through the circulation that the acid, corroding fluids are carried to the sore or ulcer and keep it irritated and inflamed. S. S. S. will purify and invigorate the stagnant blood when all sediment or other hurtful materials are washed out, fresh rich blood is carried to the diseased parts, new tissues form, and the decaying flesh begins to have a healthy and natural look; the discharge ceases and the sore heals.

Several years ago, my wife had a severe sore leg and was treated by the best physicians but received no benefit. Our druggist advised her to try S. S. S., which she did. Fourteen bottles cured her and she has been well ever since.

BIG LOCOMOTIVE.

TEST BEING MADE OF IT FROM CAIRO TO MEMPHIS.

Engine No. 1000 pulled the fast train No. 1 from Cairo to Memphis last night and the people of that division were treated to a sight not often seen in that portion of the country. The engine is one of the biggest engines on the Illinois Central, and is guaranteed to make 100 miles per hour. Already the big machine has made 82 miles per hour on the Centralia division where it has been running on a test for the past several days. The tank carried 5,000 gallons of water and there are four drivers connected with one trailer wheel. The engine could not run on this division, it is said, as she could not get past the tunnels on the Louisville division of the road.

The two big 600 class freight engines wrecked in the head-end smash up near Dyersburg last week, were brought to the city yesterday for repairs. They are both badly wrecked but not so smashed up as might be expected. They will be repaired as soon as possible. Both are of the same class and exactly alike excepting the numbers. They are the largest freight engines running on this division.

21 YEARS A DYSPEPTIC.

R. H. Foster, 318 South Second street, Salt Lake City, writes: "I have been bothered with dyspepsia or indigestion for 21 years; tried many doctors without relief; recently I got a bottle of Herbie. ### COUNTY JUDGE INDICTED.

Louisville, Sept. 29.—The Nicholas county grand jury has indicted County Judge N. H. McNew for misfeasance in office. It is charged that his report to the circuit judge showed only $2 in fines collected, when he had collected $66.50. Judge McNew claims that the indictment is a species of political persecution growing out of his opposition to Circuit Judge Osborne.

RUSH IN SHERIFF'S OFFICE.

Tomorrow is the last day for paying county taxes, and there has been a rush all day in Sheriff Potter's office, and will be a still greater one tomorrow. Many thousand dollars of taxes have been paid since the first of last week.

SHE HAD NEVER SEEN A BOAT OR LOCOMOTIVE BEFORE.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 29.—Mrs. James Hulse, from Fall Branch, Tenn., an isolated town in Upper East Tennessee was in Jonesboro this week.

She is said to have declared that, though 39 years old and the mother of five children, she had never seen a river, and until she reached Jonesboro she had never gazed upon a railroad track or train and had never walked the streets of a town or city. She has 21 brothers and sisters.

Train Robber at Eddyville's Latest Attempt to Escape.

He Appears to Be Very Innocent and Inoffensive, But Is Desperate.

HAS EIGHT YEARS TO SERVE

Charles Barnes, the train robber who two years ago held up an Illinois Central train near Wickliffe, Ballard county, and secured a large sum of money is said to be the most innocent yet the most ingenious and daring prisoner in the branch penitentiary at Eddyville.

Barnes and his brother and a man named Doyle robbed the train and then dropped Doyle out into the Mississippi river. He swam ashore, as mad as he was wet, and "snealed." Charles Barnes was caught but his brother escaped and shortly after trying to hold up another Illinois Central train near Memphis was surrounded by a posse and cut his throat, dying in the swamp.

Charles Barnes was given ten years for the job near Wickliffe.

Hardly had he learned the way from the cell house to the dining room until his inventive brain had concocted a scheme to empty the institution of all the inmates who cared to vacate.

Diligence, however, on the part of the prison officials detected crookedness in his movements, and before the attempt was made Barnes was placed in irons, end, for a time at least, trouble was averted. Good behavior soon stood the dare devil in good stead and once the bolt and chain were taken off his limbs he set to work on another scheme diametrically opposite to the original, but having for its primary object the same result—freedom.

This, too, was intercepted, and for a second time Barnes was made painfully aware that a penal institution might be likened to Owen Meredith's description of hell, "Not what you might suppose: 'tis worse in some respects."

His latest scheme, and by far the most intricate and daring, has just been brought to the attention of the prison officials.

Barnes is leased to the Tennessee Saddle and Harness company, and as the managers have separate manufacturing establishments, he is sometimes sent from one building to another, and is thus from under the observation of the guard.

This opportunity was the one chance for freedom, and subsequent events proved how well he improved it. The prison cells contain a bucket chamber ten by twelve inches, drilled in solid stone, lined with steel, and made to close with a trap door of iron.

The desperate man set to work with tools obtained from the blacksmith shop during the brief intervals given him to go from one building to another, and after working patiently for months, succeeded in drilling the steel back from the chamber. This done, he worked, when an opportunity for work was given him, on the stone wall, and gradually dug two feet in the stone with no other tools save a small chisel and hammer. Only three inches of stone remained between the dangerous criminal and the tunnel when an investigation of his cell was made. Numerous times had the trap door been lifted and a careful inspection of the chamber made, but in this particular Barnes had thrown all of his cunning by preparing a false back, exactly like the real one, which fitted so neatly that the hair of one's head could not have found room between the space.

Had the tunnel been reached the route of the man would have been as easy as an open highway, and by following the underground path he would have gained access to the cell-house, where by braining the night guard he could have secured a weapon without the least possible noise, and, thus equipped, would have been in a position to kill or defy the guard on duty in cellhouse No. 1. The death of the two night guards would have made Barnes master of the situation, and what might have resulted before finally quitting the place can only be conjectured.

ANOTHER COMBINE

Railroad Equipment Manufacturers Form a Company.

The Gigantic Concern Will Have a Capital Stock of $40,000,000, and Control Everything.

ALL PLANTS TO BE UTILIZED

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 29.—A $40,000,000 trust, including the manufacturers of practically all patented articles of railway equipment from car roofs to springs, doors, and brake shoes and beams, is being formed through the efforts of Charles F. Quincy of this city, president of the Q. and C. company, manufacturers of railway equipments, and a brother of President W. B. Leeds of the Rock Island road.

The questions as to the relative amounts of the preferred and common stock, the amount of guaranteed dividends on each, and the choice of officers and directorate, have not yet been definitely settled. It is practically certain, however, that Chicago, as by far the most convenient point, will be chosen as headquarters and that branch offices will be maintained in all important cities—those of 100,000 population and over—throughout the United States. There is also no question that at least $40,000,000 will be the total amount of the capital stock.

The companies expected to enter the consolidation have no more plants in operation at the present time than are needed for a proper distribution of supplies, and it is unlikely that any of them will be closed. All are working up to their full capacities and in most cases are fairly overwhelmed with orders.

The principal economy will consist in the closing of the separate general and branch offices which it has hitherto been necessary for each company to maintain, and in the recall of about four-fifths of the salesmen each company has been compelled to keep on the road.

The companies with which negotiations are pending are as follows:

Q. and C. company, Chicago.

Jones Car Door company, Chicago.

Security Car Door company, Chicago.

America Brake Shoe and Foundry company, New York.

Railway Steel Spring company, New York.

Standard Railway Equipment company, St. Louis.

The total amount of the six companies' annual output is in the neighborhood of $25,000,000, and the consolidation will be by far the most important from a railway standpoint, ever effected in the country.

"In an endeavor to please others, man finds for himself the most enduring of pleasures."

THE WEATHER.

Showers and warmer tonight. Tuesday showers.

The Republican mass convention tomorrow afternoon at the city hall at 2:30 o'clock should be well attended. There is a good list of candidates to make the selections from, and everybody is urged to come out and if he desires to offer names not already mentioned in connection with the various offices, to do so. The Republicans, together with the good Democrats who have the interests of the city at heart, intend to show under the gang in November and give the city a good set of progressive officers.

The object of combines is neither to replot production, reduce wages nor increase prices, but to curtail the expenses of production by lopping off offices that are rendered superfluous by consolidation. The proposed consolidation of the two big telegraph companies is an instance. In New York city alone it is estimated $150,000 a year could be saved by consolidating the two offices, and with proportionate curtailments wherever there are now two offices, the saving per annum would be something enormous, and the price of telegrams would not have to be increased a cent, and it is claimed would not be. If the people better understood the workings of these gigantic combines, they would spend less time in futile and foolish complaint against them. Most, if not all, of the big combines, or so-called "trusts" increase their profits by consolidation through a reduction of expenses, not an increase in the price of whatever they manufacture. A reduction of the expenses of operation does not hurt the general public, and so long as it does not the general public should not worry.

The Democratic papers are raising a hubbub over the alleged fact that Senator Harris of Kansas is wearing a pair of shoes he paid 20 per cent less for in Europe than he says he pays for the same make at home. There are several interesting questions involved in the case. One is if Senator Harris may not have been an easy mark at home, where he is known, and got worked for more than the shoes really sell for. Another is if he may not for political purposes, have induced some one in Europe to sell him a pair for 20 per cent off, and still another is if he didn't possibly buy a pair of second-hand shoes. It might be possible to also raise the question of whether the senator bought any shoes at all, but being a good Democrat, his veracity cannot of course be questioned. It seems that after sifting the matter down, about the only thing we can be certain of is that Senator Harris wears a pair of shoes.

Everybody who believes that Paducah's harbor is in danger from ice, or anything else, may contribute to the trouble or expense of having a government engineer sent here to make an inspection. When the inspector gets here he will laugh at the silly claims of ice being forced out of the Ohio, straight across the river against the wharf boats, stemmers and decks, to grind them to pieces and convert the Kentucky shore to a miniature replica of Labrador. It will be no quarter of a century before any such thing could be possible and if the town cow isn't voted out today, by that time all the best citizens will probably have left and the town turned into a garden patch.

Louisville's county fair was a great success, both financially and socially, and many thousand people saw it. As there has been nothing to approach it in character or importance in this end of the state, the people might begin to think of getting up something like it for Paducah next year, especially as there can be no more carnivals under the management of the Elks, who seem to be the only ones with enterprise enough to make anything a success in Paducah.

Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan it is reported, will receive one million dollars for putting through the L. and N. deal. A great howl will probably go up from the Democratic press over such easy money, but nevertheless there are perhaps few men who do not wish they could finance such a gigantic enterprise, and get a million dollars for it.

Our neighbor on Fourth street ought to wake up. It has been preaching against the town cow for some time, and urging people to vote for its extermination, but judging from Sunday's paper, which said for everybody to turn out Tuesday and vote, didn't even know that the election is today.

The Indians of Indian Territory are preparing to organize for the preservation of their race and identity. They will probably not receive any remarkable amount of enthusiastic encouragement from the outside world.

The consumers are now talking of trying to settle the anthracite coal strike. It is difficult to understand why the strike is going to be settled so long as neither of the principals is willing to settle it.

It seems that a good way to break up the trusts would be to let one of the Kentucky auditor's agents get after them for back taxes and have the courts sustain his very modest demands.

If the town cow only knew what is about to happen to her, she would be feeling mighty fine today.

SOME POLITICAL OBSERVATIONS

There was an old geiser—
His name wasn't Keiser—
Who wanted to be mayor of a fine,
Thrifty town;

He fooled some of the folks
And got all their votes,

"I'm elected," said he to his friend,
Frank Brown.

His peculiar ways

Struck all with amaze;

He was onto, he was cunning, mysterious and sly.

No one knew his intent,

But wherever he went

He looked like an over-grown, awkward big guy.

He wanted to remain,

But a remonstrance came

From the people, who said, "We are onto the boy."

He wriggled and squirmed,

But wherever he turned

He met breakers and rocks, no matter how coy.

He was afraid of defeat,

So he thought he would beat

The letter and intent of the plain common law;

He appealed to each friend,

But they failed to command his actions and began at once to withdraw,

Then he got mad

And such scenes as were had

At the meetings which were held at the big city hall!

He called every one liar,

And then he retires

To his home to lie down and have a big bawl.

Goodbye, my old friend;

Stay at home and amend

Your ways, and be frank and candid and fair.

It will aid to your health

As well as your wealth.

And save reputation from much needed repair.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

MARY MOORE BRINGS SUIT AGAINST FURNITURE HOUSE.

Mary Moore and others this morning filed a suit in circuit court against John L. Jones, the installment house man, to recover a total damages of $157.75.

The petition states that the plaintiff bought some goods from the defendant and after the said purchase was made wanted to move to Kenton. The defendant would not let them move the goods, as all the payments had not been made, but agreed that the stuff be stored in his house until the remaining payments had been made. This was done, the petition states, and the defendant has never produced the goods. Judgment is asked for the value of the goods and also for damages, the total amounting to $157.75.

INVITATION ON SOALP.

(Los Angeles Telegram to the Chicago Record-Herald.)

Charles Meadows, better known as "Arizona Charley," has forwarded to President Roosevelt a unique invitation to join his expedition to Tiburon island, that mysterious land off the coast of Mexico in the Gulf of Lower California into the interior of which it is said, no white man has ever penetrated. It consisted of the scalp of an Apache Indian, the text of the invitation being inscribed on a small metal shield which was riveted to the scap.

With a band of forty or more adventurers who have had experience upon the cattle ranges of Arizona, Meadows will leave Los Angeles about October 1 for Guaymas, and, procuring a small sloop, will proceed to the island.

The scalp is that of Apache chief named Juan Dazen, who, with 60 of his redskin raiders, was killed at Canyon Creek, adjoining Crescent Valley, in 1884, by a party of thirty men, composed of the Tewksbury brothers, the Meadows brothers and a number of cow punchers.

ONLY A MOOCHER.

ATTORNEY L. K. TAYLOR HAS A VERY DISAGREEABLE
EXPERIENCE.

Attorney L. K. Taylor was a very indignant man the other day. He was at home enjoying an afternoon nap, when his telephone rang, and he was informed by his nice boy that a gentleman named Smith, he will be called, was there to see him, and wanted to know when he would be back. Attorney Taylor had an appointment with a gentleman from Marshall county by that name, on important business and thinking it was he, replied that he would be there immediately. He hastily had his horse hitched and drove down, abandoning his nap.

When he reached his office he found only a well known "moocher" waiting for him. He called the lawyer into the back room and asked him if he couldn't loan him half a dollar.

Attorney Taylor was too mad to say anything except that he couldn't.

CAVE FOUND.

LEITCHFIELD MAN DISCOVERS
SUBTERRANEAN PASSAGE.

Leitchfield, Ky., Sept. 29—While drilling for a well near here, Will McOlre, a jeweler, discovered a subterranean cavern, whose dimensions have not yet been determined. He first struck a room about 40x60 feet and from eight to ten feet high. Passages lead from the chamber east and west, also contain divergent passages, and the end of these has not yet been reached.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

THAT LAEVISON'S PALE ALE
AND IRON-TONE ARE NON-INTOXICATING.

Another victory has been scored by the A. M. Laevison bottling works regarding their mild drinks. Mr. F. Melton, the well known merchant of Mayfield, Ky., who has been handling "Iron-Tone" and "Pale Ale," manufactured by A. M. Laevison and Co., was tried before Judge Webb, of Mayfield, day before yesterday on the charge of dispensing intoxicating liquors in violation of the local option law. After hearing the evidence and testing the "Pale Ale" and "Iron-Tone," Judge Webb immediately dismissed the case, and informed Mr. Melton the drinks were non-intoxicating and he could sell them at his pleasure. This is further conclusive proof added to the heretofore favorably rendered decisions holding Laevison's drinks non-intoxicating.

NEW INDUSTRY.

REPORTED THAT PADUCAH WILL SHORTLY HAVE A WHEEL
FACTORY.

It is claimed that Paducah is shortly to have a wheel factory. Mr. J. W. Little, the spoke factory proprietor, and several Cincinnati capitalists have about decided to establish the new factory near the Illinois Central depot between Little and Worton's Additions. The plant will have a capacity of about 50,000 wheels a year and employ at the start about 60 people.

RAISED FROM THE DEAD.

O. W. Landis, porter for the Oriental hotel, Chanute, Kansas, says: "I know what it was to suffer with neuralgia, 'dead' I did, and I got a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment and I was 'raised from the dead.' I tried to get some more, but before I had 'deposited' of my bottle I was cured entirely. I am tellin' de truth too." 25¢, 50¢ and $1 at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

NOT A FISH STORY.

BUT A TALE OF MANY FROGS IN INDIANA.

Laporte, Ind., Sept. 29—The streets of Michigan City were soon Saturday to be literally alive with frogs. The streets and lawns were completely covered with frogs of all sizes, from the normal down to those no larger than a pea. The people are unable to offer any explanation for the strange phenomenon.

DEVOURED BY WORMS.

Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although fed abundantly. The entire trouble arises from inanition, their food is not assimilated, but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once, very much to the surprise and joy of the mother.
